Possibilities for // Expand the English Education Major at the University of Delaware

Many UD English Education graduates successfully complete courses of study that allow them to develop their interests and knowledge beyond their major requirements. Below are some pathways that have proven popular over the past few years, though the possibilities are endless! We encourage you to talk with your advisor about how you can achieve your unique goals at UD.

Minors

Dual Certification
At this time, students interested in becoming certified to teach more than one secondary subject can either (a) complete a double major (e.g., English Education and Spanish Education) or (b) complete one secondary education major and pass the Praxis II in both the first and second subject areas. Check the certification requirements in the state(s) in which you wish to become certified at www.ets.org/praxis.

Study Abroad
Students can study abroad in any academic term (summer, fall, winter, or spring). Each study abroad program is sponsored by one or more departments (e.g., Foreign Languages, English, Sociology), and students can choose from a variety of programs in order to gain experience in a specific part of the world and/or to fulfill specific course requirements, such as minor requirements or a second writing requirement. Undergraduate Research
At any phase of their undergraduate careers, students can get involved in conducting research alongside faculty mentors. Students can conduct research in independent studies and/or over the summer months. A listing of faculty research projects and undergraduate research procedures is online at http://urp.udel.edu/.

Writing Fellows
Advanced undergraduates are selected through a competitive process to assist faculty in writing-intensive courses. Sophomores and juniors take ENGL316, a three-credit training course offered in the spring. http://www.udel.edu/honors/writingfellows/

Writing Center Peer Tutors
Advanced undergraduates are selected through a competitive process to tutor their peers in the University Writing Center. Selected students take ENGL392, a three-credit training course offered in the fall.
